

BABE, 6 MONTHS, BADLY INJURED

With Sister's Infant in Her Arms Miss Maud Stone Hit by Woodmansee

Struck by an automobile driven by Port Woodmansee, Miss Maud Stone, an employee of the forest service and the six-months-old baby of her sister, Mrs. George Wolliscroft, of Big Creek, Cal., were injured last night at the intersection of Twenty-eighth street and Grant avenue.

Woodmansee was arrested following the accident by the sheriff's department and later by the police both of which departments, however, released him upon his own recognizance. The baby was thrown about 10 feet from the arms of Miss Stone, and according to the examining physician, sustained a concussion of the brain and numerous bruises. Miss Stone was knocked to the pavement and sustained severe bruises and cuts about the body.

According to the investigation conducted by Detectives C. E. Noble and Edward Butterfield, when Miss Stone with the baby in her arms, was more than half way across the street, Woodmansee was driving toward her at least half a block away. By the time she was within about nine feet of the sidewalk, the car struck her.

Shortly after the accident Desk Sergeant Wilson saw Woodmansee with his coat off, walking toward his car, which he seemed to have difficulty in starting. Questioned by Desk Sergeant Wilson, as to what had happened or if he had struck anyone, Woodmansee said that nothing had happened and he had not struck anyone.

Desk Sergeant Wilson was on his way home when he arrived at the scene of the accident and was not informed as to what had happened by the bystanders until Woodmansee had driven away. Miss Stone and the baby had been removed.

Miss Stone will file a complaint, she said, this afternoon, charging Woodmansee with reckless driving.

ONG ACQUIRES EDUCATION IN COUNTY JAIL

Ong Chou Que, Chinese, who is voluntarily staying in the county jail, fearing that an attack will be made upon him by other Chinese since his recent acquittal of a charge of embezzlement—is gaining a liberal English education.

When Ong was placed in jail he could hardly utter a sentence in English. But the other prisoners took an interest in him and now he promises to become well versed in not only the English phrases that are considered eligible in all circles, but those that are taboo as well.

This morning the jailer was surprised to find Ong in the center of an amused ring of prisoners, with the boxing gloves on and facing a husky youth who was shouting him how Dempsey slapped Carpenter to earth. But Ong was holding his share of the fight argument well.

The crisis was reached early this afternoon, when Ong appeared at the big barred jail door and in a high-pitched voice rendered, "Dear Old Pal of Mine" with all the trimmings.

When the voice died away, one of the deputies shifted his chair to the other side of the cell and remarked, "Say, Ong is getting along well with his jail education, ain't he?"

"Yes," came the reply from another, "he'll probably rob a bank when he graduates."

Be Cannibal, Eat Raw Meat, Drink Blood, He Advises

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 30.—"Be 100 per cent cannibal, eat raw meat, drink the blood of the slaughtered animal and gnaw the bones to the marrow to attain the highest degree of physical perfection."

Such was the advice given to the delegates of the Erie county women's clubs today by Dr. Albert Sy, of the University of Buffalo, who spoke on food values.

"Civilization has caused the average human being to become too pampered," declared Dr. Sy. "We should not be fastidious. We discard the most nutritive parts of a creature. The same practice is true of our preparation of vegetables. Raw potatoes, raw carrots and sugar in its natural state are included in the cannibal diet."

"The Birth of a Race" to Show at Alhambra Again Today

The children who take part in the big photo spectacle now at the Alhambra theatre provide good entertainment in themselves. In the modern story there are also little Lawrence Johnson. Their pranks cause laughter at the most unexpected moment. But the youngest member of the cast is the tiny baby who plays the important role of the infant Moses, in the historical prologue. This cunning youngster laughs and coos as he is being placed in the basket and set afloat on the river, to be rescued by Pharaoh's daughter.

The value of the screen as a historian is definitely proved by the great photoplay. This production shows vividly the high lights in American history, the landing of Columbus, the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the freeing of the slaves, and finally America's answer to the Kaiser's challenge. Then comes the great peace when the whole world is united in an effort to bring about the true democracy and the brotherhood of man. A brilliant musical accompaniment which will be played on the big Kimball organ, has been especially written for this picture by Joseph Brill, the man who wrote the scores for "The Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance."

Six Acts of Fine Vaudeville at Orpheum This Week

There's a mighty fine vaudeville bill for Orpdenites at the Orpheum this week in the opening of the new Pantages show today.

Larry Reilly and his players have one of the cleverest acts ever seen in vaudeville in "The End of the Road." This young Irish actor-singer supported by Mary Hampton and a clever cast presents this little playlet in remarkable style. Dunbar and Turner have a nifty dancing and singing offering. Shaw's Sporting Dog Revue gives some thrills in high leaping and bits of hunting life. El Cota is the wizard of the xylophone with his varied program. Mabel Harper, the Fun Beam of vaudeville, offers some eccentricities in comedy, chatter and songs. Swan and Swan are snycopated jugglers with an excellent comedy offering.

The Solznick News will complete the bill which runs until Saturday.

Colleen Moore Appears at Ogdén Theatre in "Come on Over"

One of the difficulties of playing roles other than that of an English speaking character, is learning the accent or brogue of another nationality. Colleen Moore, who plays an Irish Miss in "Come on Over," was spared this difficulty, because she herself is as Irish as the blarney stone. To be sure, Miss Moore does not speak with a brogue, but it took no time at all for her to revert to the charming one of her white haired grandmother, with whom she lives.

The result of "Come on Over," which comes to the Ogdén theatre, for three days, commencing today was that Colleen's friends were loath to see her lose the brogue after the Goldwyn comedy was finished, and were forever pleading with her to "talk for them," while she was making it.
